Knock on the right door.

Partner proposal for <Club name>

A founding-member partnership that brings warm, personal outreach to your batch and alumni.

For the placement committee, club leads and faculty advisor · October 2026

THE PROBLEM

Off-campus and lateral searches run through job portals, where most applications never get a reply

Many applications, a handful of replies

Illustration, not data

Filtered by keywords

Portals sort CVs before a person ever reads one.

Lost in a crowd

Recruiters see hundreds of near-identical profiles.

Silence teaches nothing

No reply means no signal on what to change.

People hire people.

Referrals and warm conversations beat cold applications because a real person vouches for you

Cold application

Who sees it first

A filter, then a busy recruiter

What they know about you

One CV among hundreds

What happens next

Usually nothing

Warm conversation

A person who chose to reply

Your story, in your own words

An introduction, a referral or an interview

Your committee already knows this. It is why alumni networks matter so much.

Students know warm outreach works, but doing it well takes time most do not have

01

Finding the right people

Not just recruiters:
hiring managers, team
members and alumni
who can introduce.

02

Researching each one

Reading profiles, posts and career moves to find a real reason to talk.

03

Writing the first message

Short, personal, never a template. Hard to do well sixty times a week.

04

Handling every reply

Knowing what to say
next, and when it is right to ask for a referral.

This is exactly the work Knock does alongside the student.

WHAT KNOCK DOES

Knock runs the outreach in four steps, and the student approves every message

YOU

You pick the targets

The companies and roles you actually want.

KNOCK, WITH YOU

We find the right people

Hiring managers, team members, alumni and senior people who can introduce.

We write each first message

Short and personal, built on something you genuinely share.

We guide every reply

Through the conversation, to a referral or an interview.

You approve every message. It goes out from your own LinkedIn.

A good first message is short, specific and asks for a conversation, not a job

To: Rahul

Product, Zepto · previously Flipkart

Hey Rahul, saw you moved from Flipkart into product at Zepto. I'm making a similar jump from brand management. Curious, what was the biggest adjustment for you?

3

Approved by the student · sent from their own LinkedIn

1

A real shared point

His move from Flipkart to Zepto mirrors the student's own switch.

2

Honest about intent

One plain line on who the student is and where they are going.

3

Easy to answer

One genuine question. No CV, no link, no ask for a job.

Sixty hand-picked people a week keeps every message personal and every account safe

60

people a week, each one chosen by hand

Small on purpose, so every message can be personal.

Every message is personal

Written for one person. No templates, no mass sends.

Sent from the student's own account

Their name, their voice, their approval on every message.

Well under LinkedIn's limits

A human pace, because a human is behind every message.

Conversation first, ask later

The referral request comes only after a real exchange.

Starting price

Club members get the founding price. All prices in INR, per student.

The club gets a free pilot and a founding price; Knock asks for one announcement and one call

WHAT <CLUB NAME> GETS

- 1 Founding price for every member
Locked in for students and alumni.
- 2 A free pilot for 5 students
Chosen by the club, at no cost.
- 3 A results summary to share
Honest numbers the club can show the batch.
- 4 A co-hosted session
On running an outbound job search well.

WHAT KNOCK ASKS

One announcement

To the batch, in the club's own words.

One feedback call

After the pilot, to hear what worked and what did not.

Nothing else. No batch data, no mailing lists.

We will judge the pilot by one honest number: interviews per 100 people contacted

$$\text{Interviews} \div \text{People contacted} \times 100 = \text{The one number we report}$$

Per student

Each pilot student sees their own number and the conversations behind it.

In aggregate

The club gets one summary across all five students, ready to share with the batch.

No promised results. Knock is new. We will report what actually happens, good or bad.
